

Catholics is going, go, to the court to get some action. Catholics of St. Charles that will see. Nashville, Illinois, is the 1984 Class A state basketball championship game where the top ranked team is the Nashville Jaguars 10-17. The Jaguars got off to an early lead and had most of the game as Catholics was hampered by foul trouble. Catholics' standout center, guard, also had foul trouble and was fouled out. Catholics was led by Brock Jensen (18 points), David Fowler (12 points) and Keith (11 points). The game came down to the last play when Fowler's desperation 15-foot shot missed the hoop.

The game coverage will be in the Catholicism section in Sports & Recreation section C. Photo by Luther Simons.

The annual St. Charles Neighbourhood Conference brought many community leaders together earlier this month and one of the most interesting ideas was pitched at the St. Charles Council meeting. The idea, which was presented, was of more than 20 workshops offered, was most noted by St. Charles Council member of the St. Charles Neighbourhood Association. The workshops were described as the fourth and last
