The city had a more attractive and improved environment, but it takes the urban region some time to recover from the damage.

about 100 years in many countries. Although the life expectancy at birth in the European Union has increased by 10 years since 1970, the life expectancy at age 65 has increased by only 5 years. This is because of the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over. In 1970, there were 10 million people aged 65 and over in the European Union. By 2000, there will be 20 million people aged 65 and over. This is because of the increase in the number of people aged 65 and over. There is a need to consider how this may potentially contribute and the importance of the research studies are in the community and society.

"There's a great deal of discussion, a lot of good information, a lot of information out there that we can't get on," says Knap. "I really hope that this [book] will help." "During the last 10 years, we've learned a lot about the world around us, but that's not all that's going on in our society," says Knap. "We have a great deal of information, but we have a great deal of information that we can't get on."
