

"It's time somebody put Americans and Tennessee first. They're sure not doing that in Washington," Burchett told the large crowd made up by elected officials, veterans, and citizens.

"It's time we bring our men and women home from the Middle East," he the Senate. It was created to represent the people, the farmers, the laborers, the small business owners — people and all blue-collar workers. People who in 2017 go to work every day with their names on their shirts," Burchett told the supporters.

Continued on page 2

Reese County Mayor Tim Burchett fist bumps a supporter following his announcement Saturday that he's running for U.S. Congress. A couple hundred supporters turn out for the event at Vid Market # 2 on Western Avenue.

Why are sidewalks so important to neighborhoods?

By Mike Stealy
mstealy@knoxnews.com

The Metropolitan Planning Commission is urging both the city of Knoxville and Knox County to require side-

School Board delays action on revising discipline policy

By Pete Gauda

After months of discussion on the topic of revising the board policy on misbehavior and disciplinary actions, the Knox County Board of Education, at their Monday eve-