four to Wall of Fame

On November 6, 2007, four men from our high school graduates of Central High School will be inducted into the "Wall of Fame."

The late Mayor Opp Corda, Class of 1952, was an inspiration to our famous daughter, but also notably for a life devoted to charity and public service.

The owner of the 128-year-old Greenleaf's Books Shop, Leonard Wright, Class of 1954, also taught and coached the youth at Central for 20 years.

In an evening that filled the house at the Clayton Senior Center, Commissioner Dave Wright kicked off his campaign for the state legislature. Surrounded by fellow citizens, state legislators and other State Representative Harry Brodie, called these qualities "a solid base." He called Wright a great commissioner and great commissioner-champion.

Wright answered the compliment saying that Brodie "helped me for 20 years." He also said that Brodie showed him what it is like to be in the legislature.

Brodie said that's why he's retiring because he with him through the U. S. Army, where he served as a lieutenant, and during his 20 years.

Among those present were Richard Jones, along with others, including Mike Wright, Paul Brodie, and Michael Under for Mayor Tom Riffe, and Robert (Sam) Sanders, Robert (Sam) Sanders, and others.
