In thanking his supporters, he said his father, Judge Charles D. Suzanne

The family of Charles Suzanne turned out for his campaign kickoff for Circuit Court Clerk Thursday. Charles is now standing with wife Robin, mother Carolyn and daughter Sophie. Seated is his father, Judge Charles D. Suzanne Jr.

Jr., had instructed him to "keep it short" and he thanked his family for support, especially his wife Robin. Referring to public service, Suzanne said the most important person in "standing in front of you" Suzanne's father was appointed a national spokesman for the trust industry for his guidance during Suzanne's five years in that office and thanked Dean LaRue, Suzanne's campaign manager. Suzanne said he is "looking forward to growing up here going to school, working, doing sports and learning the importance of a lifelong community."

Amber Rountree seeks re-election to BOE seat

Amber Rountree has announced her intention to run for re-election to represent trusts otherwise. Only incumbent Billie Thompson has filed to keep his position. The Register of Deeds position pays $125,000.00 with an $8,000.00 travel allowance. Only Tom McBride has a petition for that position.

At least three Republican candidates have indicated they will seek to become the Knox County Mayor, with that with pay $172,100.00. Two county commissioners are and an insurance agent all want that job. They are Bob Thomas, Brad Hobbs and Steve Jordan. On Friday, Amber Rountree announced her intention for county board in the Democratic primary.

The people want to see the Circuit Court Clerk, which pays $100,000.00 each year. Republicans in the primary race are Dan Hedges, Scott Smith, Charles Suzanne and Tom Wheeler. Dan Hedges
