

ing as Collections Coordinator and Legal Assistant to the Knox County Trustors Office. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. He and his wife live in Westville and have been married for 20 years and have two children.

As an archaeologist he has managed teams with the goal of preserving the history of Knox County and the East Tennessee area.

In thanking his supporters he said his father, Judge Charles D. Susano

The family of Charlie Susano turned out for his campaign kickoff for Circuit Court Clerk Thursday. Charlie is seen standing with wife Robin, mother Carolyn and daughter Sophie. Seated is his father, Judge Charles D. Susano Jr.

Jr., had instructed him to "keep it short" and he thanked his family for support, especially his wife Robin. Referring to public service, Susano said the most important person is "standing in front of you." Susano's humor was apparent in his brief remarks.

He thanked Trustee Ed Shouse for his guidance during Susano's five years in that office and thanked Dean LaRue, Susano's campaign manager.

Susano says he is a "lifelong Knoxville and greet here going to school, working, playing sports and learning the importance of a tight-knit community."

Continued on page 2

his position. The Register of Deeds position pays $129,829.88 with an $8,399.82 travel allowance. Only Rick McBrink has a petition for that position.

At least three Republican candidates have indicated they will seek to become the Knox County Mayor, a job that will pay $172,738.02. Two county commissioners and an insurance agent all want that job. They are Bob Thomas, Brad Anders and Glenn Jacobs. On Friday Ronde Galtman picked up a petition for county mayor in the Democratic primary.

Five people want to be the Circuit Court Clerk, which pays $158,174.08 each year. Republicans in the primary race are

Stretching the Almighty Dollar Budget Time at Knox County Schools

Amber Rountree seeks re-election to BOE seat