

Rountree kicks off board re-election campaign

Rountree (center) with board members and supporters during a campaign event.

Editorial
The board of directors of the Knoxville Focus is currently in the middle of a re-election campaign. The board is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the newspaper, including the editorial and business sides. The board members are elected by the shareholders of the newspaper. The current board members are: [List of names and titles]. The board members are currently serving their terms and are eligible for re-election. The re-election campaign is currently underway, and the board members are working hard to win the support of the shareholders. The board members are committed to the success of the newspaper and to the community of Knoxville.

The board of directors of the Knoxville Focus is currently in the middle of a re-election campaign. The board is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the newspaper, including the editorial and business sides. The board members are elected by the shareholders of the newspaper. The current board members are: [List of names and titles]. The board members are currently serving their terms and are eligible for re-election. The re-election campaign is currently underway, and the board members are working hard to win the support of the shareholders. The board members are committed to the success of the newspaper and to the community of Knoxville.

The board of directors of the Knoxville Focus is currently in the middle of a re-election campaign. The board is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the newspaper, including the editorial and business sides. The board members are elected by the shareholders of the newspaper. The current board members are: [List of names and titles]. The board members are currently serving their terms and are eligible for re-election. The re-election campaign is currently underway, and the board members are working hard to win the support of the shareholders. The board members are committed to the success of the newspaper and to the community of Knoxville.

New data center to be the first of its kind in Tennessee
The new data center is expected to be the first of its kind in Tennessee. It will be a state-of-the-art facility that will provide a secure and reliable environment for the storage and processing of data. The data center is expected to be completed by the end of the year. It will be a major addition to the city's infrastructure and will provide a significant boost to the local economy.

The new data center is expected to be the first of its kind in Tennessee. It will be a state-of-the-art facility that will provide a secure and reliable environment for the storage and processing of data. The data center is expected to be completed by the end of the year. It will be a major addition to the city's infrastructure and will provide a significant boost to the local economy.

Parkridge selects new board, officers

Editorial
The board of directors of Parkridge is currently in the middle of a re-election campaign. The board is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the organization, including the financial and administrative sides. The board members are elected by the members of the organization. The current board members are: [List of names and titles]. The board members are currently serving their terms and are eligible for re-election. The re-election campaign is currently underway, and the board members are working hard to win the support of the members. The board members are committed to the success of the organization and to the community of Knoxville.

Parkridge board members and officers during a meeting.

Knoxville Focus
www.knoxfocus.com
Subscribe today!
$5.00 per month

David Florist
(800) 847-4188
www.davidflorist.com
Flowers, Plants, and More

Home Depot
www.homedepot.com
Tools, Hardware, and More