

...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...

...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...

...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...

...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...

...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...

...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...
...the county, which is...

How County Law Shaped the Funding

Night Out at Henry's Bakery & Deli

Henry's Bakery & Deli: A group of people, including several men and women, are seated around a long table in a restaurant setting, engaged in conversation and eating. The setting appears to be Henry's Bakery & Deli.

Attorney fees for seven retired deputies voted down

By Mike Murphy
murphy@vallejoherald.com

An agreement to pay attorney fees for seven retired deputies was voted down by the Board of Supervisors on Tuesday night. The agreement, which would have paid the attorneys for the retired deputies who were involved in a lawsuit, was defeated by a 4-3 vote.

The retired deputies, who were involved in a lawsuit, are now seeking attorney fees for the costs of their legal defense. The Board of Supervisors, which is responsible for the county's finances, voted to deny the request. The retired deputies are now seeking attorney fees for the costs of their legal defense. The Board of Supervisors, which is responsible for the county's finances, voted to deny the request. The retired deputies are now seeking attorney fees for the costs of their legal defense.