

Fountain City Auction Kicks Off New Year With Mega Advertisement Auction

Fountain City Auction kicked off its New Year celebration with a Mega Advertisement Auction on Monday, January 9th. The auction featured a wide variety of advertising opportunities, including billboards, radio spots, and print ads. The event was held at the company's headquarters in Knoxville, Tennessee, and attracted a large number of interested buyers. The auction was a success, with several items sold for high prices. The company is excited to continue its advertising services throughout the year.

Photo: Fountain City Auction. A man stands next to a vending machine in a store.

Ring in the New Year on Market Square

The city of Knoxville is celebrating the New Year with a variety of events on Market Square. The celebration includes a fireworks display, live music, and a parade. The events are free and open to the public. The city is excited to welcome everyone to the celebration and wishes everyone a happy and prosperous New Year.

'Violins of Hope' coming to Knoxville

The 'Violins of Hope' project is a charitable initiative that provides violins to children in need. The project was founded by a group of musicians who wanted to help children who could not afford to buy their own instruments. The violins are made from recycled materials and are of high quality. The project has been successful in providing violins to many children in need. The Knoxville chapter of the project is currently accepting donations of violins and other musical instruments. For more information, visit www.violinsofhope.com.

Photo: Violins of Hope. A collection of violins of various colors and finishes.

The 'Violins of Hope' project is a charitable initiative that provides violins to children in need. The project was founded by a group of musicians who wanted to help children who could not afford to buy their own instruments. The violins are made from recycled materials and are of high quality. The project has been successful in providing violins to many children in need. The Knoxville chapter of the project is currently accepting donations of violins and other musical instruments. For more information, visit www.violinsofhope.com.

Photo: Violins of Hope. A man in a suit playing a violin.