

The Scholars' Bowl features high school students from across our region going and growing for the 11th season today on East Tennessee Public Broadcasting System.

Scholars' Bowl broadcast begins today

By Wendy Thrall
wthrall@knoxnews.com

What happens when you take some of the smartest kids in high school and pit them against the smartest kids from another high school?

What you have is the Scholars' Bowl. Today the season series premieres each week at 5:00 p.m.

The show's longtime producer and founder, Frank Miller, passed away three years ago and Roberts said he took over the role, organizing brackets across the region's schools and airing more than 4,000

The best of Knox County

Catholic junior offensive lineman Bryan Tucker (16-5, 300) goes out to block during TNA's playoff time late in the season. Tucker fills a big spot on 'The Knoxville Press & Courier's' 2014 All-Knox County football team, which is announced this week along with the Knox County Player and Coach of the Year. Please see the November 10 Sports and Recreation, Section B. Photo by Jeff