

The Scholars' Bowl features high school students from across our region going and premieres for the 35th season today on East Tennessee Public Broadcasting System.

Scholars' Bowl broadcast begins today

By Mike Stealy
stealy@knoxnews.com

What happens when you take some of the smartest kids in high school and get them against the smartest kids from another high school?

What you have is the Scholars' Bowl. Today the popular series premieres for the 35th season on East Tennessee PBS. The each weekday at 5:30 p.m.

The show's longtime producer and founder, Frank Miller, passed away three years ago and Roberts said he took over the role, organizing brackets across the region's schools and writing more than 4,000 questions that will be asked this season. The

The best of Knox County

Catholic junior offensive lineman Bryn Tucker (6-5, 300) fires out to block during TSSAA playoff time late in the season. Tucker fills a big spot on The Knoxville Focus / Coach's 2018 All-Knox County football team, which is announced this week along with the Knox County Player and Coach of the Year. Please see the honorees in Sports and Recreation, Section B.
 Photo by Kelly Krasne.