

...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...

...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...

...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...
...the ... of ...

Local Spotlight

Walter Maples reflects on 90 years

Walter Maples, 90, is a retired engineer and a member of the City of Houston. He is sitting at a table with another man, who is also a member of the City of Houston. They are both smiling and looking at each other. There are papers and a tablet on the table.

City may extend ban of electric scooters

By [Name] for Houston Chronicle

HOUSTON — The City of Houston is considering extending its ban on electric scooters. The city council is expected to vote on the issue in the coming weeks. The ban was originally implemented in 2019, but it has since been challenged in court. The city is now looking for ways to balance the needs of scooter users with the safety of pedestrians and cyclists.

The city council is expected to vote on the issue in the coming weeks. The ban was originally implemented in 2019, but it has since been challenged in court. The city is now looking for ways to balance the needs of scooter users with the safety of pedestrians and cyclists.

The city council is expected to vote on the issue in the coming weeks. The ban was originally implemented in 2019, but it has since been challenged in court. The city is now looking for ways to balance the needs of scooter users with the safety of pedestrians and cyclists.

By [Name] for Houston Chronicle

By [Name] for Houston Chronicle

By [Name] for Houston Chronicle