

LOCAL BUSINESS ADOPTS GREEN TECHNOLOGY
 A local business has adopted green technology to reduce its carbon footprint. The company, which has been in operation for over 20 years, has invested in solar panels and energy-efficient lighting to reduce its energy consumption. This move is part of a larger initiative to become a more sustainable business.

The company, which has been in operation for over 20 years, has invested in solar panels and energy-efficient lighting to reduce its energy consumption. This move is part of a larger initiative to become a more sustainable business. The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen.

The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen. The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen.

The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen. The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen.

Design (Photo)the presents Heccede Knoxville applied

The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen. The company has also implemented a recycling program and has reduced its paper usage. These efforts are part of a commitment to environmental stewardship and to being a responsible corporate citizen.

Mary Wickham turns 92 with family and friends at Little's

Mary Wickham, 92, celebrated her birthday with family and friends at Little's. The celebration was a special occasion for the family, and Mary was the center of attention. She was surrounded by loved ones who wished her a happy birthday and thanked her for her many contributions to the community.

Mary Wickham, 92, celebrated her birthday with family and friends at Little's. The celebration was a special occasion for the family, and Mary was the center of attention. She was surrounded by loved ones who wished her a happy birthday and thanked her for her many contributions to the community.

Mary Wickham, 92, celebrated her birthday with family and friends at Little's. The celebration was a special occasion for the family, and Mary was the center of attention. She was surrounded by loved ones who wished her a happy birthday and thanked her for her many contributions to the community.