

Renaming Norwood Library to honor Lynn Redmon

By Mike Stealy
mstealy@knoxnews.com

The Knox County Commission meets in a work session next Monday and one of the items that may be discussed is renaming the Norwood Library in honor of Lynn Redmon. Redmon passed away last year and was the leader of the Norwood neighborhood and a well-known political consultant.

Commissioner Randy Smith is sponsoring the resolution honoring Redmon.

Items to be discussed are probably the chairman and commissioners and input will be passed on to the commission's regular meeting on March 28.

...Continued on page 4

Gov. Lee makes good on campaign

Morrisville Knoxville resident Vincenta Cooper and CEO Greg A. Vital cut the ribbon at the Grand Opening of West Knox County's newest assisted living facility. Joining them at Thursday's ceremony are city and county officials.