The 100-acre landscape is a mix of green fields and rolling hills. In the distance, a small building is visible. The foreground is a grassy field with some trees and bushes.

SENIOR STARS

The spotlight continues again this week as the focus continues the race recognition of the top students of our school. Class of 2007 with its Valedictorian and Salutatorian from South Side High (page 10A) and Northern High (A-1). Another group of students recognized in this week's Star Trek (pages 10).

Students that attend classes regularly attended the off-site program and were recognized by the Department of Education and the local community. Following National Week, students were members of religious groups, attended the World Water, Wonders event, and the 10th, 100th anniversary of the National American Woman's Suffrage Society. In the second term, a high percentage of students at the University of Illinois completed the Water Literacy Program. The local community, including the local government, the local business community, and the local media, all supported the program. The local government, including the local government, the local business community, and the local media, all supported the program.

Representatives like those in the House, and the entire Congress, are going to be involved. I think the House is going to be at the helm, with the Senate following behind. But the House has a lot of work to do. It has to make sure that the President is not oversteering the ship. It has to make sure that the President is not oversteering the ship. It has to make sure that the President is not oversteering the ship.
