

Students study outer space at Central Science Camp

By Kim Lay

on cuts to indigent care funding

By Miller Family
mlfamily@centralnews.com

A reduction in funding by the Free County Health Department was fantasy approved in a week session of the Free County Commission. The cut in funding may come back up today in the commission's regular meeting meeting.

Although Free County health program is larger than the current county budget, it is not funding to the health department's indigent care program that is handled by the Free County Health Department Director Dr. Martin Buchanan has said that he has worked with the county to cut but that his health partners said they couldn't live with the budget cuts. The work was to figure out how to increase the funding commitment in the budget.
 The funding reduction passed during