

www.knoxfocus.com

* * HUGE AUCTION * * FRIDAY, July 5 at 6PM

Fountain City Auction (865)474-9931

July 1, 2019

Phone: 865-686-9970 | PO Box 18377, Knoxville, TN 37928 | Located at 4109 Central Avenue Pike, Knoxville, Tennessee 37912

Celebrate with the city at Festival on the Fourth munity-wide Festival on the Fourth cel-ebration at World's Fair Park on Thursday, July 4, 4-10 p.m. Everyone is invit-ed to enjoy free activities, live music and the City's largest fireworks display This year's festival also marks the debut of the park's improved Perfor-mance Lawn. The $2.5 million project updated water and electric ser vice, improved drainage, and added new sod, pervious paver hardscaping and an enlarged entry area and gates "We're excited to host this family-friendly holiday event," says City Spe cial Events Director Judith Foltz. "The new lawn is a wonderful addition for both the Festival on the Fourth as well as future events in World's Fair Park.'

Festival on the Fourth features a variety of entertainment, activi-ties and food vendors on the Performance Lawn. Festival Lawn and inside the Tennessee Amphitheater

Live family entertainment on the Home Federal Bank Family Fun Stage at the Tennessee Amphitheater includes 4:15 - 4:45 p.m.: K-Pop Dancers

5 - 5:45 p.m.: Dre Hilton

6 - 7 p.m.: The Amazing Magic Show with Tim Pressley Activities in the Regal Kids Zone on the Festival Lawn include mini-golf, a water balloon game, Legos by Bricks 4 Kids, a climbing wall and a Euro-bungy trampoline. Families can also enjoy face painting and a photo booth.

On the park's Festival Lawn Stage, Bary Jolly performs Jimmy Buffet's songs from 4:15 - 5:30 p.m., followed by classic rock covers by the Bicho Brothers from 6 - 7:30 p.m.

Music on the Performance Lawn Stage begins at 5 p.m. with a performance the Stoney Point Bluegrass Band.

At 8 p.m. the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra's 35th annual Free Pilot Flying J

Continued on page 2

is chats with Calvin Skinner during the Tuesday evening League of Women Voter's Mayoral Candidate forum. All six candidates for Knoxville Mayor spoke and answered questions submitted by those present. Mayoral candidates pictured from left to right are: Michael Andrews, Fletcher Burkhardt, Indya Kincannon, Mannis, Skinner and Marshall Stair.

Community policing and the candidates for mayor

By Mike Steely steelym@knoxfocus.com

One of the topics addressed during the League of Women Voters May-oral Candidate Forum Tuesday night was community policing. Knoxville is currently planning to relocate the police and fire departments to the former St. Mary's hospital just off Broadway. Not all of the six can-didates agree with that and each addressed the idea of spreading the police department out through the city rather than one central location

Eddie Mannis was the first to answer the question and said he believes that a precinct model is "a better way to go." He said putting the police back in the community builds relationships and said, "That is a better model of policing and helps build a relationship." the community policing model and said that police officers should be "When I talk to officers about recruiting more officers no one ever says we need a better building."

Police working in an area have the opportunity to get to know the people in that area," said Michael Andrews.

You get better community input." Fletcher Burkhardt said he thinks the precinctidea "is great" but said it increases the cost. He also said the police and fire department employ ees need "proper pay" and to get rid of antiquated rule books. He said that he saw an officer who had to wear long sleeves in hot weathbecause of a tattoo on his wrist

Calvin Taylor Skinner said that police officers should reflect the community in which they serve and nental health training. community policing is "helpful.

"We're doing that now with com munity meetings and building relationship with business owners," said Marshall Stair. He added, "I'm not for the precinct model because the city of Knoxville is not that big. At this time when we're understaffed I don't think that makes sense.

The forum, held at the Knoxville News-Sentinel office, drew a large crowd of supporters and citizens Questions also included indigent care, affordable housing, hacking threats of city records, Pilots and Tiffs for business tax breaks, attracting minor ity businesses, and gun violer

Each candidate gave a brief introduction and a closing statement. In

Continued on page 3

Urgent Care Center agreement passes in split vote

As Governor Bill Lee did not budget funding for cen ters like the Behavioral Health Urgent Care Center the director of Helen Ross McNabb, Jerry Vagnier, has been approaching Knoxville and Knox County governments with a request for increased local funding for a reduced care program. The Behavioral Health Urgent Care Center opened with great fanfare last year with the state covering most of the cost of the building and first year's operation. The center reported treating more than 500 mentally ill or addicted people apprehended by local law enforcement for minor offenses. Those were given the option of 72 hours of treatment with follow ups or being taken to jail.

Vagnier stood before the Knox County Commissioners last week and suc-cessfully pleaded for funding. The approval came in a split vote, 6-4, and only after some grilling of the director by some of the commissioners to provide $575,000. The loss of state funds, said Vagnier, means cutting back the 72-hour stay to 24 hours with expanded follow up after discharge. He said the center will increase the number of case workers to follow those discharged patients.

The resolution, approved. provides $840,000 from the county.

Vagnier received several critical questions from Commissioners Randy Smith, Justin Biggs, John Schoonmaker and Evelyn Gill. In the final count they voted "No" on the funding. Supporting the funding were Brad Anders, Richie Beeler, Carson Dailey, Larsen Jay, Michele Carringer and Hugh Nystrom. Asked about following up patients Vagnier said Center works with KARM, VMC, Cherokee Health and Peninsula Hospital. He called the other agencies "a matrix of providers.

He also said that the 72-hour stay policy will not end immediately and will probably take about six months. Asked about the initial estimate of treating 1,500 people over the first year and only treating about 500 Vagnier said they would have treated the 1.500 had the patients

been brought to them

"You haven't met the agenda under the first contract " commented Gill

Barbara Cook, a citizen long opposed to the center. urged the commission to reject the funding and called the current program "a failure.

"Helen Ross McNabb has never been held accountable for the grants they receive," she said, charging that the center "got a building outifit"

Commissioner Smith said the commission has never received a report about the operation of the center and Vagnier said he made an annual report to the mayor. He also said the center will submit quarterly reports in the coming fiscal year. Smith also asked how long the follow up care will be for each patient and Vagnier said "three to six Commissioner Larsen Jay asked if the success of the center can be measured over three to five years of operation and Vagnier agreed.

The commission also passed on consent $101,127 in carry-over funding from the current state allotment with a county match of $25,282 for the Urgent Care Unit.

Historic Wedding Denue

Built in 1886, Shannondale

Presbyterian Church offers a traditional wedding setting with stained glass windows and a center aisle. Contact Wedding Coordinator, Sarah Weber at 865-456-6923.

DENSO Crafting the Core

Now Hiring in Maryville!

Low cost health insurance • 401(k) retirement Paid holidays and vacation • Tuition assistance Text JOBS to 89800

6729 Pleasant Ridge Road Knoxville, TN 37921 65) 938-3403 TNFL735 WWW.POWELLAUCTION.COM