

ROAD BLOCKED

Parking reduced at New Harvest early voting location

Orange cones and traffic signs block the way to the early voting station at New Harvest. Photo by [Name].

Early voting at New Harvest was held on Saturday, Sept. 14, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The location was set up with a white tent and orange traffic cones to manage the flow of voters. The site was located on a street that was partially closed to traffic during the event.

The early voting station at New Harvest was a busy scene on Saturday. Voters were seen waiting in lines and interacting with staff members. The site was well-organized, with clear signage and a dedicated area for voters to cast their ballots.

Several people were seen at the station, including a man in a blue shirt and a woman in a white shirt. The atmosphere was calm and orderly, with voters patiently waiting for their turn to vote.

Don't miss the history fair Saturday!

A large crowd of people is seen at the history fair on Saturday. Photo by [Name].

The history fair was a popular event that attracted a large number of visitors. The fair featured various exhibits, including historical artifacts, photographs, and interactive displays. Visitors were able to learn about the rich history of the area and engage with the exhibits in a fun and educational way.

The fair was held in a scenic outdoor setting, providing a pleasant atmosphere for visitors. The event was well-attended, with people of all ages enjoying the various activities and exhibits. The fair was a great opportunity for the community to come together and celebrate their shared history.

Smooth take-off for 2019-2020 school year

The 2019-2020 school year has started with a smooth take-off. Schools across the district have reported a high level of student attendance and participation. The transition from summer break to the school year has been seamless, with students eager to return to the classroom. Teachers and staff members are pleased with the positive start to the year and are committed to providing a high-quality education for all students.

The school district has implemented several initiatives to support a successful school year. These include enhanced communication between schools and families, as well as a focus on social-emotional learning for students. The district is confident that these efforts will contribute to a positive and productive school year.

POWELL
 REAL ESTATE & FINANCE