

Edwards' second candidate Eddie Mannis addresses supporters after Tuesday night's primary at the Grand Event Center. Mannis, the top vote-getter, will face Andy Rossman in the runoff's general election.

Reorganization, Ancient Village at commission meeting

By Mike Brady
mbrady@sfchronicle.com

The annual reorganization of the San Francisco Commission on Ancient Village was held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the city's new headquarters. The commission, which was created by the city's Board of Supervisors in 1997, met for the first time since its creation. The commission's first meeting was held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the city's new headquarters. The commission, which was created by the city's Board of Supervisors in 1997, met for the first time since its creation.

The commission's first meeting was held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the city's new headquarters. The commission, which was created by the city's Board of Supervisors in 1997, met for the first time since its creation.

The commission's first meeting was held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the city's new headquarters. The commission, which was created by the city's Board of Supervisors in 1997, met for the first time since its creation.

Council talks pay raise for city judge, sign ordinance, Design Center funds

By Mike Brady
mbrady@sfchronicle.com

During a 10-minute session of the San Francisco City Council Tuesday night, the council approved a pay raise for the city judge, signed an ordinance to create a new city agency, and approved a measure to fund the city's Design Center.

The pay raise came up

The pay raise came up Council member Andrew Rossman, Greg McManis

...to be addressed to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors is the city's highest governing body. The Board of Supervisors is the city's highest governing body. The Board of Supervisors is the city's highest governing body.

...to be addressed to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors is the city's highest governing body. The Board of Supervisors is the city's highest governing body. The Board of Supervisors is the city's highest governing body.

Primary by the numbers

By Mike Brady
mbrady@sfchronicle.com

The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected.

The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected.

The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected.

The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected.

The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected.

The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected. The results of the general election Tuesday night were not what many expected.