

Birchley Newby kicks off election campaign in Corryton

Corryton — Birchley Newby, a candidate for the Corryton School Board, kicked off her election campaign on Tuesday night at the Corryton Community Center. She spoke to a group of about 50 people who gathered for the event. Newby, who is running for the position of School Board member, said she is committed to improving the school system and ensuring that all students have access to quality education. She also mentioned her experience in the community and her desire to bring that experience to the school board. The event was held at the Corryton Community Center, which is a popular gathering place for the community. Newby's campaign is focused on addressing the needs of the students and the community. She plans to continue to engage with the community throughout the campaign.

State-elected vice chair of school board

Corryton — The Corryton School Board has elected a new vice chair. The board members, who are elected by the community, met on Tuesday to discuss the election. The new vice chair, who was elected by a majority vote, will be responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations of the school board. The board also discussed other matters, including the upcoming school year and the needs of the community. The election was held in a formal setting, and the results were announced to the community. The new vice chair will be working closely with the board members to ensure the best possible education for the students of Corryton.
