

How about it? Many youngsters believe Chicago's skyline looks better with the map and the city's most well-known landmarks. (Photo by: Chicago Tribune/Chicago Tribune)

The Chicago Tribune is a daily newspaper published in Chicago, Illinois. It is the largest newspaper in the United States by circulation. The paper is published daily, except on Sundays and public holidays. It is owned by the Tribune Company, which is a publicly traded company. The newspaper is known for its in-depth reporting and analysis of local and national news.

The newspaper is published in both print and digital formats. It has a long history of providing news and information to the people of Chicago and the surrounding area. The newspaper is known for its commitment to journalism and its dedication to serving the community.

The newspaper is a member of the Associated Press and the National Endowment for Democracy. It is also a member of the Chicago Tribune Foundation, which is a charitable organization that supports various social and cultural programs.

Continued on page 2

City may seek $1.5 million for new transit buses

By [Name] [Address]

The city of Chicago is considering a $1.5 million proposal to purchase new transit buses. The proposal is part of a larger effort to improve the city's public transportation system. The buses are expected to be delivered by the end of the year.

The proposal is being considered by the City Council. The council is expected to vote on the proposal in the coming weeks. The city is also considering other options for improving its public transportation system, such as expanding the city's bike-sharing program.

The city is also considering other options for improving its public transportation system, such as expanding the city's bike-sharing program. The city is also considering other options for improving its public transportation system, such as expanding the city's bike-sharing program.

Continued on page 2

School Board Debates Deferral of Lonsdale MOU

By [Name] [Address]

The Lonsdale School Board is debating whether to defer the implementation of a new Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the teachers' union. The board is expected to vote on the issue in the coming weeks. The MOU is expected to be implemented by the end of the year.

Continued on page 2

The Lonsdale School Board is debating whether to defer the implementation of a new Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the teachers' union. The board is expected to vote on the issue in the coming weeks.

The board is also considering other options for improving its public transportation system, such as expanding the city's bike-sharing program.

The city is also considering other options for improving its public transportation system, such as expanding the city's bike-sharing program.

Continued on page 2

The city is also considering other options for improving its public transportation system, such as expanding the city's bike-sharing program.

Continued on page 2