

Carson Dailey, executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners, sits at the table with Bill Wadsworth, executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners, and David Wright, executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners.

Only 11% voters take advantage of early voting

By Jeffery
Staff Writer
jw@carsonnews.com

There are 66,000 registered voters in Carson County. Of those, 22,000 voters, or 33%, were actually voting. That's a pretty low turnout, especially when you consider that many of the voters have been voting in the past.

When the vote is taken, the early voting period is only 10 days. That's a pretty short time to get out and vote. The early voting period is only 10 days. That's a pretty short time to get out and vote.

There are many reasons why voters don't vote. One reason is that they don't have time to get out and vote. Another reason is that they don't have the information they need to make a decision.

Continued on page 2

Carson Dailey Launches Reelection Campaign

By Jeffery

Carson County Executive Director Carson Dailey has launched his reelection campaign for 2020. He is running for a second term as executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners. He is running for a second term as executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners.

Dailey has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years.

Dailey has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years.

Dailey has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years.

Dailey has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years.

Dailey has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years. He has been executive director of the Carson County Board of Commissioners for 10 years.

County hires new lobbying firm

By Jeffery
Staff Writer
jw@carsonnews.com

The Carson County Board of Commissioners has hired a new lobbying firm to represent the county in the state legislature.

The new lobbying firm is called Carson County Lobbying Firm. It is a new firm that was created by Carson County. It is a new firm that was created by Carson County. It is a new firm that was created by Carson County.