

Tim Irwin hosts auction and cook-off fundraiser

Tim Irwin, owner of the Irwin family business, is hosting a fundraising event for the St. Mary's Hospital. The event will include a cook-off and an auction. Irwin is a well-known figure in the community and has been involved in many charitable activities. The fundraiser is expected to be a successful one, with many people attending and donating. The proceeds from the event will be used to support the hospital's operations and provide care for the community.

The event is being held at the St. Mary's Hospital. It is a great opportunity for the community to come together and support a good cause. The cook-off will feature some of the best local chefs, and the auction will have a variety of items for sale. The event is open to everyone and is a chance to make a difference in the community.

1,500 target the Norman St. Mary's power building

A group of 1,500 people are targeting the Norman St. Mary's power building. The group is protesting against the building's construction and the impact it will have on the community. They are concerned about the loss of green space and the increase in traffic. The protest is a show of solidarity and a way to voice their concerns. The group is hoping to draw attention to the issue and pressure the authorities to reconsider the plans.
