

Photo by Jeffery M. Hirschman

On Nov. 28, members of the public take their first look at three unique designs from the architects of B&N who created the science museum concept.

Three Concept Plans Proposed at Science Museum Meeting

By Amy Rose Hoffmann

More than forty people ventured out last Thursday night to the Clay County Building to watch a presentation and a three unique concepts and 100 early. Hadden asked the attendees through the details of each design option.

Others presenting at the public meeting were city staff that operate

Foundation, city foundation George Walker and Andrew Roberts, and other representatives of Benjamin Hurry Institute.

"So, Clayton, I want to extend to 3 p.m.

By Amy Rose Hoffmann
amy@hirschman.com

When the three unique design concept and Foundation Board met last week, the three action item request against from County was only mentioned once.

Foundation Board Director Jennifer Schmitt, in giving her report and setting up meeting dates for 2020, asked attorney John George if the meetings should be longer. With the report going forward in regards to the request.

"Structure of having meetings is less than without" she asked. George replied "No."

After an executive session of the board, fourteen months ago, George asked for and received permission to represent the person having interest in a county request. The person based is not mentioned in the request but it is a result of actions by that person in granting vacation days in calculating retirement for some Clay County Sheriff's Department employees.

The person based then asked to move their monthly meetings from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m. The meetings are held in Room 640 in the Clay County Building.

Commissioner Hugh Hadden gave an Foundation Committee report noting that "everything is up" and noted a number needed changes in some investments.

George reported there is "nothing