

Members of the Knoxville Songwriters Association pose for a photo. From left to right: Andrew Johnson, David Johnson, David Johnson, David Johnson, David Johnson, David Johnson, and David Johnson.

TVA Tower move, Andrew Johnson sale pass without comment

By [Name]
 [City]
 [State]

The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has announced that it will be moving its headquarters from Knoxville to Nashville, Tenn., in 2011. The move is part of a larger effort to consolidate federal agencies in the Nashville area.

The move is expected to be completed by the end of 2011. The TVA has been in Knoxville since 1956, when it moved from its original headquarters in Washington, D.C.

The move is part of a larger effort to consolidate federal agencies in the Nashville area. The move is expected to be completed by the end of 2011.

Knoxville Songwriters Help Launch Tennessee Songwriters Week

Knoxville songwriters helped launch Tennessee Songwriters Week, a celebration of the state's rich musical heritage. The event was held in Knoxville and featured performances by local and national artists.

The week-long celebration included a variety of events, including workshops, masterclasses, and live performances. The event was a great success and helped to raise awareness of the importance of songwriting in Tennessee.

The event was a great success and helped to raise awareness of the importance of songwriting in Tennessee. The event was a great success and helped to raise awareness of the importance of songwriting in Tennessee.