Old Sevier neighbors won a victory at the city council meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 26, when they defeated a proposed rezoning of the property. The rezoning would have allowed for a new development of 100 units, which would have been a significant change for the area.

The rezoning was proposed by the city council, but it was defeated by a vote of 5-4. The neighbors argued that the rezoning would be a detriment to the area, and they were supported by a large number of residents who attended the meeting.

The city council will now have to reconsider the rezoning, and the neighbors will be able to voice their concerns again. The city council meeting was held in the city council chamber, and it was attended by a large number of residents.
