Kara Ledwidke of Knoxville was voted the winner of the Virtual Dogwood Arts Festival. Photo submitted.

Dogwood Arts announce

By Ken Lay

The COVID-19 pandemic has played havoc with the 2020 Dogwood Arts Festival, causing many of its signature events to be canceled or postponed.

Fans consider festival's first free and win $500 from juried second place and earned $300. The popular actors and acrobat.

Voting was held from March 31 through April 30 and Sharon Nelson,

By Mike Steely

steelym@knoxfocus.com

Knoxville's 6th District is huge in territory, stretching from Forks of the River all the way to beyond Gibbs and Corryton, fronting on even in mountain Knoxville the district borders on Sevier, Jefferson, Grainger, Union and Anderson Counties.

Commissioner Richard Beeler represents the 6th District on the county commission and his replace Dave Wright, who now serves as the senate state Knox representatives in the Knox County Commission. He has a seat with the fact there is no district representation on the county's Hillside and Ridgetop Protection plan.

During the recent zoning portion of the Knox County Commission meeting Beeler, who seldom speaks on an issue, delivered a short address...