

CAK athletes, performing arts students receive tribute

Students, teachers and staff at the school recently celebrated the achievements of students who have excelled in sports and the performing arts. The students were recognized for their dedication and hard work, and their contributions to the school community. The students were also recognized for their leadership and teamwork skills.

Referring

Students who excel in sports and the performing arts are recognized for their achievements. The students are also recognized for their leadership and teamwork skills.

Students who excel in sports and the performing arts are recognized for their achievements. The students are also recognized for their leadership and teamwork skills.

Students who excel in sports and the performing arts are recognized for their achievements. The students are also recognized for their leadership and teamwork skills.

Students who excel in sports and the performing arts are recognized for their achievements. The students are also recognized for their leadership and teamwork skills.

Converting to a Full District Dominance BOE Session

By Mary Ann McManis

The Board of Education (BOE) met on Tuesday, June 15, 2010, at 7:00 p.m. in the Board Room of the New York City Department of Education (DOE). The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference. The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference. The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference.

The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference. The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference. The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference.

The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference. The meeting was held in a virtual format, with members of the board and staff participating via video conference.

New City Human Resources Department questioned