COVID-19 won't stop the Class of 2020

By Reporter Line

Drive-in ceremonies, fireworks and celebrations have been scheduled for the COVID-19 pandemic.

Leaders across local school districts and communities are working hard to honor graduating seniors with new ways to celebrate their achievements after the coronavirus forced the cancellation of traditional ceremonies and activities.

Many of the 2020 graduates were stressed at their high school and parents worried about missing out on traditional milestones.

Some districts have scheduled in-person graduation ceremonies, while others have opted for virtual ceremonies.
